CHARTERS.

40TH GEORGE III.

22ND MARCH, 1800.

GEORGE THE THIRD, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, &c. To ALL TO WHOM these Presents shall come, WHEREAS our Royal Predecessor, King Edward IV., by certain Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of England, bearing date the 24th Day of February, in the first Year of his Reign, did at the Supplication of the Freemen of the Mystery of Barbers of the City of London, using the Mystery or Faculty of Surgery, grant to them, among other Things, that the said Mystery, and all the Men of the same Mystery of the said City, should be one Body and Perpetual Community, and that two Principals of the same Commonalty, of the most expert Men in the Mystery of Surgery, might, with the assent of twelve or eight Persons at the least, of the same Community, every Year elect and make out of the Community, two Masters, or Governors, being the most expert in the Mystery of Surgery, to oversee, rule, and govern, the Mystery and Commonalty aforesaid.

Recital of the Letters Patent of 1st Edward 4th; incorporating the Freemen of the Mystery of Barbers of the City of London.

AND WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the 32d Year of the late King Henry VIII. intitled for Barbers and Surgeons, after reciting, that, within the City of London, there were then two several and distinct Companies of Surgeons, occupying and exercising the Faculty of Surgery, one Company called the Barbers of London, and the other Company called the Surgeons of London. It was thereby enacted, That the said two several and distinct Companies of Surgeons should from thenceforth be united, and made one intire and whole Body Corporate, and one Commonalty Perpetual, which at all times thereafter should be called by the Name of the Masters or Governors of the Mystery and Commonalty of the Barbers and Surgeons of London; and by the same Name to implead and be impleaded before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Suits.

Of the Act 32d Henry 8th.

By which the two Companies of Barbers of London, and Surgeons of London were united.

Of the Letters Patent of 5th Charles 1st.

And whereas, in and by certain Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of England, bearing Date the 15th Day of August, in the 5th Year of the Reign of His late Majesty, King Charles I., reciting that the Men of the same Companies enjoyed divers Liberties and Franchises within the City of London, the Suburbs and Liberties thereof, by virtue of divers Acts of Parliament, and divers Charters, and Letters Patent, His said Majesty did grant and confirm unto the said Masters and Governors of the Mystery and Commonalty aforesaid, and their Successors, all and singular the Manors, Messuages, Lands, Tenements, Customs, Liberties, Franchises, Immunities, Jurisdictions, and Hereditaments, whatsoever, which the Men of the said Companies then held, used, and enjoyed, by any lawful Means or Title whatsoever: And his said late Majesty did thereby give power to the said Corporation, to make annual Elections of Masters or Governors of the said Commonalty, whereof two to be Professors in the Art and Science of Surgery; and also to elect and constitute ten of the Freemen of the said Society to be Examiners of Surgeons in London.

Which confirmed to such united Company all the possessions, franchises and liberties which the said Company then held and enjoyed, with power to make annual Elections of Masters or Governors whereof two to be Professors in Surgery; and to elect ten Freemen to be Examiners.

Recital of the Act of 18th of George 2d.

And whereas, by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the 18th Year of the Reign of our late Royal Grandfather, King George II., intitled "An Act for making the Surgeons of London, and the Barbers of London, two separate and distinct Corporations," It was enacted, that the said Union and Incorporation of the Barbers and Surgeons of London, made and effected by the aforesaid Act of the 32d Year of King Henry VIII. should, from and after the 24th Day of June, 1745, be dissolved and declared void and of no effect; and that such of the Members of the said united Company who were Freemen of the said Company, and admitted and approved Surgeons, within the Rules of the said Company, and their Successors, should from thenceforth be made, and they were thereby made and constituted, a separate and distinct Body Corporate and Commonalty Perpetual, which at all times thereafter were to be called by the Name of Master, Governors and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, and by the same Name might implead and be impleaded before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Actions and Suits, and take to them and their Successors, Lands, Tenements, Rents, or Hereditaments, not exceeding the yearly Value of £200 in the whole.

by which the Union of the two Companies was dissolved; and which constituted a distinct Company of Surgeons, by the Name of "The Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London."

Recital that such Corporation was dissolved.

And whereas, we are informed that the said Corporation of Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, hath become and now is dissolved: And whereas, it is of great consequence to the Commonweal of this Kingdom, that the Art and Science of Surgery should be duly promoted: And whereas, it appears to us, that the Establishment of a College of Surgeons will be expedient for the due promotion and encouragement of the Study and Practice of the said Art and Science, Now We, of our special Grace and mere Motion, and at the humble Petition of James Earle, Esquire, the late Master, and divers other Members of the aforesaid late Corporation of Surgeons; have willed, ordained, constituted, declared, given and granted, and by these Presents, for Us, Our Heirs, and Successors, do will, ordain, constitute, and declare, give and grant; unto the aforesaid James Earle, and unto all the Members of the said late Company or Corporation of Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London; having been admitted and approved Surgeons, within the Rules of the said Company; and also unto all such Persons, who upon, or since, the dissolution of the said Corporation, shall have obtained Letters Testimonial, under a Seal purporting to be the Seal of the said late dissolved Corporation, authorizing them to practise the Art and Science of Surgery; and they, from henceforth for ever hereafter, shall be and remain by virtue of these Presents, one Body Corporate and Politic; by the Name of The Royal College of Surgeons in London, and by the same Name shall and may have perpetual Succession, and a Common Seal; with power to break, alter, and make anew the said Seal, from time to time at their will and pleasure; and by the same Name shall and may implead, and be impleaded, before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Actions and Suits; and shall be at all times for ever hereafter persons able and capable in Law to take, purchase, possess, hold, and enjoy, and shall and may take, purchase, possess, hold and enjoy, a Hall or Council-house, with its Appurtenances, situate within the Cities of London or Westminster, or within one Mile of either of them, for the use and purposes of the said College; and also any other Lands, Tenements, Rents, or Hereditaments, wheresoever situate, lying and being; not exceeding, together with the aforesaid Hall or Council-house, and its appurtenances, the yearly value of one thousand Pounds in the whole; without incurring any of the Penalties in any Statute of Mortmain, or any Thing, in any Statute of Mortmain, to the contrary notwithstanding.

That it is of great consequence that the Science of Surgery should be duly promoted, and that a College will be expedient for the due encouragement thereof.

Therefore His Majesty was pleased to incorporate the Members of the late Company, and all such Persons who since the Dissolution thereof have obtained Letters Testimonial &c.

By the name of "The Royal College of Surgeons in London."

With perpetual succession and a common seal;

and power to hold and enjoy a Council-house within London or Westminster or one mile of either of them; and to possess lands and tenements, including such Council-House of the yearly value of £1000 in mortmain.

And it is Our further Will and Pleasure, that nothing in these Presents

Proviso.—That the City of London shall not have any jurisdiction over the College. Nor the Members of the College enjoy any franchise belonging to the Freemen of the City of London.

shall be construed to give the Corporation of the City of London any Power or Jurisdiction over the said College hereby established and incorporated; and that no Person, by virtue of these our Letters Patent, constituted or ordained, or hereafter to be admitted a Member of the said College, shall be thereby entitled to any Franchise belonging to the Freemen of the City of London.

The College to enjoy all other privileges and possessions by any former Acts or Letters Patent, given to, or otherwise acquired by, the late Company, not hereby altered, &c.

And it is Our further Will and Pleasure, and we do hereby, so far as We lawfully can or may, grant and ordain, that the said Royal College of Surgeons hereby incorporated, shall and may exercise and enjoy all and singular other the Gifts, Grants, Liberties, Privileges and Immunities, Possessions, real and personal, whatsoever and wheresoever, hereinbefore mentioned, or by any Act or Acts of Parliament, or by any Letters Patent, of Our Royal Predecessors, Kings and Queens of England given, granted, and confirmed unto, or otherwise lawfully acquired by, and belonging to the said late Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons; or any of them, and not hereby altered, taken away, changed, or abridged, made void, or annulled.

The College liable to perform such Duties as the late Company did perform by the Act of 25th George 2d, "For the better preventing the horrid Crime of Murder."

THE COUNCIL.

The Council, the governing body of the College, consists of twenty-four Members, three* of whom go out in rotation annually in July, but are eligible for re-election by the Fellows of the College. All proceedings of the Court of Examiners, the Board of Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology, the Midwifery and Dental Boards, and the several Committees are reported to the Council for approval and confirmation. The Meetings of the Council are generally held in each month of the year, except in the month of September, and at such other times as the business of the College may require. During the past Collegiate Year there have been eleven Meetings.

* If in any year one of the three retiring Members be President of the College, he does not go out of office until the succeeding year.

THE COURT OF EXAMINERS.

The Court of Examiners consists of ten Members elected by the Council from the Fellows of the College. The Court superintends the carrying out generally the regulations of the Council relating to the preliminary and professional education of Students, and conducts the Pass Examinations in Surgery and Surgical Anatomy of Candidates for the Diplomas of Fellow and Member of the College. During the past Collegiate year the Court has held two Meetings for the Examinations for the Fellowship, and thirty Meetings for the Pass Examinations for the Membership.

THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY.

The Board consists of nine Members annually elected by the Council from the Fellows of the College. The Board conducts the Primary Examinations in Anatomy and Physiology for the Diplomas of Fellow and Member, and has held six Meetings for the Fellowship and thirty-one Meetings for the Membership.

The following is a statement of the number of Candidates who presented themselves for the Fellowship and Membership respectively, with the results of the several Examinations, viz. :—

THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN MIDWIFERY.

The Board consists of four Members annually elected, viz. :—The Chairman, one of the Vice-Presidents of the College, and three other Members, who are required to be elected either from the Fellows or Members of the College, or from the Fellows or Licentiates of the Royal College of Physicians of London. The Board conducts the Examination of Candidates for the Licence in Midwifery. There have not been any appointments made during the last three years, and the Examinations are suspended until further notice.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN DENTAL SURGERY.

The Board consists of six Members elected by the Council for five years, viz. :—three Members of the Court of Examiners of the College, and three other persons skilled in Dental Surgery. The Board conducts the Examination of Candidates for the Diploma in Dental Surgery of the College. During the year thirty-three Candidates have been examined, twenty-seven of whom passed to the satisfaction of the Board.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

[N.B.—On previous occasions the President's Annual Report has been presented at the June Council,—that is to say, a month before the date when the official year ends, and the President's term of office expires: but it has now been judged more convenient that each Annual Report should close only with the end of its respective official year; and consequently the present Report, since it must also include a remanet of last official year, extends to a period of thirteen months.]

The facts which it is my duty to record, as having occurred in the administration of the College during the past thirteen months, are as follows.

At the Annual Meeting of the Fellows of the College, held on the 4th of July 1878, for the election of Members of Council, the three vacancies, which had arisen by the retirement in rotation of Mr. Erasmus Wilson, Mr. Henry Lee, and Mr. Barnard Holt, were filled by the re-election of Mr. Erasmus Wilson, and the election of Mr. John Gay and Mr. Edward Lund.

At a Special Council held on July 10, to fill two vacancies which had arisen in the Court of Examiners through the going out of office of Mr. John Marshall and Mr. Timothy Holmes (as required under the Charter of 1852) on their having completed five years tenure of office, the same gentlemen were re-elected Examiners.

At the Quarterly Council, held on July 11, the Council, according to custom, made its various annual appointments. I had the honour to be elected President of the College, and Mr. Luther Holden and Mr. John Eric Erichsen were elected its Vice-Presidents, for the year then to come. Mr. Jonathan Hutchinson was elected, in succession to Mr. Thomas Spencer Wells, to be Professor of Surgery and Pathology. Mr. William Henry Flower and Mr. William Kitchen Parker were re-elected Joint-Professors of Comparative Anatomy and Physiology, and Mr. Benjamin Thompson Lowne was re-elected Lecturer on Anatomy and Physiology.

At the same Council a recommendation from the Museum Committee was submitted and approved, that the volumes of the Museum Catalogue which relate to Pathology, and which were last edited in the years 1846–49, should now have a new edition. In this vote it was matter of particular satisfaction to the Council to know that Sir James Paget, whose eminent reputation may be said to date from the very valuable service which he rendered to the College and to science during the years 1842–46 by his labours in preparing (under the Museum Committees of those years) the Pathological Catalogue which is here in question, would now, as Chairman of the Museum Committee, preside over the revision of the work.

At the Quarterly Council of October 17—the first re-assembling of the body after its autumn recess, formal notice was received of the death of the much-esteemed senior member of the Council, Mr. John Hilton, which had taken place on the 14th of the previous month, and the following resolution was thereupon unanimously passed:—"That the Council having this day received notification of the death of Mr. John Hilton, a member of the Council, desires to record its high appreciation of the services which Mr. Hilton, in several capacities, and during a long series of years, rendered to the College, and of the influence which, as a Surgeon and a Teacher of Surgery, he exercised on the progress of his Profession; and that the President be requested to express to the family of the late Mr. Hilton the sincere regret with which the Council receives intelligence of his death, and sympathises with them in their loss."

At the same Council, report was made by the Secretary that, in accordance with previous instructions, he had received on behalf of the College a memorial bust of the President, executed by Mr. Thomas Woolner, R.A., the subscribers' presentation of which to the College had been accepted by the Council: a presentation and acceptance, regarding which, since I am here officially called upon to record them, I beg leave respectfully and gratefully to add, that I count them as of the highest honours and rewards of my professional life: and the Council, on receiving the above report from the Secretary, directed him to convey their thanks to the Committee of Subscribers to the Memorial.

At the Council of November 14, the President and Vice-Presidents submitted their report, prepared at the desire of the Council, on the subject of a request which had been addressed to the Council by 30 of the Fellows of the College, that a general meeting of the Fellows might be convened for the consideration of certain suggestions which Mr. Quain had made in favour of occasional meetings of Fellows for purposes of consultation or discussion. The Council was pleased to approve and adopt this report, and a copy of it is therefore subjoined. App. No. 1.

In view of the recently passed Dentists Act, and of the change thereby effected in the legal significance of the Dental License of the College, it had become necessary, as between the College and persons who might now desire to be examined for the License, that all such persons as had before the passing of the Dentists Act been engaged in the practice of dentistry should, in some respects, be exceptionally provided for by the College; and the Council of Nov. 14 accordingly enacted, on the recommendation of the Dental Board, certain exceptional examination-rules applicable to that class of persons. These rules have been published in the usual way for the information of those whom they may concern.

At the Council of December 12, appointment was made of the Board of Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology for the year 1879. Seven of the nine Examiners of the year 1878—namely, Mr. Holmes, Mr. Wood, Mr. Power, Mr. Heath, Mr. Hulke, Mr. Durham and Mr. Pick—had offered themselves for re-election, and, on the recommendation of the Committee for these Examinations, were re-elected; but Mr. Savory and Mr. Wagstaffe (the latter of whom was unfortunately at the time in serious illness) did not offer themselves for re-election; and these two places in the Board were, at the Committee's recommendation, filled by the election of Mr. William Morrant Baker and Mr. Walter Rivington.

At the same Council a recommendation was brought up from the Board of Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology, and was approved by the Council, that candidates for the diploma of membership, where referred at the Primary Examination with report of not having obtained more than half the number of marks required for passing the Examination, should not be re-admitted to examination till after six months from the date of failure, nor without a certificate of having been engaged in dissection during at least three of those additional months.

Also at this Council, Mr. Luther Holden, senior Vice-President of the College, was elected a member of the Board of Examiners in Dental Surgery.

Further, at this Council, the President and Vice-President submitted a Report, in which, with the liberal and kind concurrence of Mr. Erasmus Wilson, they proposed arrangements for materially enlarging the scientific scope of the Erasmus Wilson Endowment: and the Council, on Mr. Wilson's motion, was pleased to approve and adopt the Report. I now subjoin it,—App. No. 2; and I may add that, since its adoption by the Council, all requisite steps have been taken to give legal effect to its proposals. The Calendar which will contain the present report will contain also the formal announcement of the new conditions under which the Erasmus Wilson Trust is to be administered, and under which it is believed that great encouragement will be given to members of the College to distinguish themselves in Pathological Research.

At the Quarterly Council of January 9, 1879, an address of condolence to Her Majesty the Queen, on occasion of the lamented death of H.R.H. the Princess Alice, Grand Duchess of Hesse-Darmstadt, was voted.

At the same Council a recommendation from the Museum Committee was received and adopted, that the part of the revised Catalogue which relates to the specimens illustrating the Osteology and Dentition of Vertebrate Animals, present and extinct, should be printed.

At the same Council the President and Vice-Presidents, referring to the prospects of legislation to be proposed in Parliament with regard to the Medical Profession, suggested that all members of Council who had passed the Chair should be associated with them as a Committee to watch such Parliamentary proceedings, and to advise the Council in relation to them; and this suggestion having been accepted by the Council, the Committee was so constituted.

On the 14th of February, the anniversary of the birth of John Hunter, the College, according to custom, celebrated his illustrious memory: Professor Humphry delivering the Oration of the day before an audience well qualified to respond to it; and the Council afterwards entertaining at dinner, in the Library of the College, an assemblage of persons of high eminence in public life, and in art, literature, and science.

At the Council of March 13, Professor Humphry received the unanimous thanks of the Council for the Hunterian Oration which he had delivered, and was requested by the Council to publish it.

At the same Council there was received from the "Committee of Reference" (by means of which the English Medical Authorities confer in respect of their proposed scheme of Joint Examinations for England) a communication, bringing under notice of the Council important further proposals which the Committee had drafted, viz.:—(a) for regulations respecting the professional education and examination of candidates desirous of obtaining qualification to register through these examinations; (b) for regulations relating to examiners and the conduct of examinations; (c) for regulations relating to the payment of examiners and other expenses of examination; and (d) for alterations to be made in the scheme of May 1, 1877, which the Authorities had, under certain reserves, accepted. But with reference to this communication, Sir James Paget and Mr. Marshall, the representatives of the College in the Committee of Reference, together with the President and Vice-Presidents of the College, suggested to the Council, that in the then state of the question of legislation on these matters, it would be useless for the Authorities to attempt any final consideration of the proposals of the Committee of Reference; and the Council, adopting this view, adjourned their consideration of the subject.

At the same Council, a Memorial was received from 49 Teachers of Anatomy and Physiology in English medical schools, suggesting to the Council to change in some respects the Primary Examinations of the College; and the Council, aware that its Committee on the Examinations in Anatomy and Physiology had undertaken to consider with the Board of Examiners the system of those Examinations, referred the Memorial to that Committee; and, at a subsequent Council, the Committee was authorized to receive, on behalf of the Council, a deputation from the memorializing teachers.

At the Quarterly Council of April 10th, the Jacksonian Prize for 1878 was awarded (and with high praise on the part of the adjudicators) to Mr. Joseph Priestley Smith, of Birmingham, a member of the College, for his dissertation on the prescribed subject of the year: "Glaucoma,—its causes, symptoms, pathology, and treatment."

At the Council of May 8th, it was appointed that the next Annual Meeting of Fellows for the election of Members of Council should be held on Thursday the 3rd of July, and it was ordered that notice to this effect should be published and announced in the usual manner.

At this Council consideration was given to two Memorials which the General Medical Council had transmitted, a month previously, for the observations of the Council of the College, and which this Council had thereupon referred to the Court of Examiners for report:—the one, a memorial from 24 teachers and practitioners of Ophthalmic Surgery, alleging a frequent neglect of ophthalmic surgery and medicine in the ordinary course of medical education, and proposing that education and examination in ophthalmology should be more specially required than at present; the other, a memorial from the Obstetrical Society, alleging that the regulations of the English Licensing Bodies do not require enough study of Obstetric Medicine, and proposing that the present requirements should be increased. After giving consideration to the facts and circumstances of the two cases, and to the report of the Court of Examiners thereupon, the Council did not see any present occasion to alter the requirements of the College in either of the matters in question, and directed that information to this effect should be given to the General Medical Council; it being at the same time understood, that, whenever the English Licensing Authorities shall agree to give effect to their scheme of joint action, the Council will have to discuss as a whole the regulations which have been proposed with regard to education and examination under the scheme, and must then necessarily re-consider, in consultation with the other Authorities, all such questions of quantity and proportion in education and examination as those which have been raised in these two memorials.

At the Council of June 12, a memorial was received from 100 of the Fellows of the College, requesting the Council to make such alterations in the bye-laws as to enable Fellows to vote by voting-papers or by proxy at the election of members of Council: but the memorialists were evidently under a misapprehension as to the legal powers of the Council in this matter; and the Council directed it to be pointed out to them, that the requirement of personal attendance on the part of those who would vote at the elections to Council is not a requirement under bye-law, but is a requirement which section 15 of the Charter of 1843 imposes as an express condition of voting.

At the same Council there was received from the Committee on examinations in Anatomy and Physiology a report on various questions which had been referred to the Committee, and also on the question which the Committee itself had previously raised, of the desirability of separating Anatomy and Physiology in the primary examinations for the Membership and Fellowship. The Committee reported that in their opinion these subjects ought to be separated, and they recommended that the next nomination of examiners should be made on this principle; and the Council, after full deliberation of the question, approved the recommendation of the Committee. At an Extraordinary Council held on June 19, when the above important conclusion had been confirmed by the Council, it was referred to the Board of Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology to settle, with approval of the Committee on those examinations, the details for giving effect to the new system. It may be permissible for me in this place pointedly to record that, while the Committee, in view of the present scientific relations of Anatomy and Physiology, judged it proper that these subjects should in future be separated in the examinations of the College, as they have long been strictly required by the College to be separate in the teaching of the Schools, the Committee not only had no shadow of dispraise to suggest with regard to the manner in which the other system (to the extent of its capabilities) had been administered by the Board of Examiners, but bore particular testimony to the able and efficient manner in which the Board, administering that system, had represented the intentions of the College.

At the Annual Meeting of the Fellows of the College, held on Thursday last, the 3rd of the present month, for the election of Members of Council, the four vacancies which had arisen through the death of Mr. John Hilton and the retirement in rotation of Mr. Frederick Le Gros Clark and Mr. George Critchett (who did not offer themselves for re-election) and of Mr. Thomas Spencer Wells, were filled by the re-election of Mr. Wells, and the election of Mr. John Wood, Mr. Jonathan Hutchinson and Mr. Henry Power.

The Statistics of the College Examinations for the official year now terminating are as follows :—

Examinations.	Candidates.	Referred.	Passed.
I. Membership :—
1. Primary	785	255	530
2. Final	507	164	343
II. Fellowship :—
1. Primary	95	47	48
2. Final	28	10	18
III. Dental Surgery.....	33	6	27

In result of the above examinations, and of membership-candidatures which were in suspense at the closing of our last account, the rolls of the College have had added to them during the year the names of 361 new Members, of 18 new Fellows, and of 28 new Licentiates in Dental Surgery. Besides the 18 Fellows admitted by examination, 2 have been admitted by election under authority of sections 1 to 5 of the Charter of 1852, and in conformity with section xxiii of the bye-laws.

Death during the year has removed 41 names from our roll of Fellows, and 227 from our roll of Members.

On two occasions during the year the Council has had to fulfil the painful duty of removing from its list of Members (under subsection 3 of section xix of the bye-laws) a person convicted of a criminal offence which in the judgment of the Council marked him as unfit to remain a member of the College.

With regard to the collections of the College, as the Officers in charge of the Museum and Library make their respective special reports under sanction of corresponding Committees of Council with which they are associated, I have no need to enter into details: but I am glad to make particular mention of a gift received by the College from Sir James Paget, for which the donor received the thanks of the Council,—comprising twenty-six autograph letters addressed at various times by John Hunter to Edward Jenner, and one addressed by Jenner himself to his son; and, further, a manuscript of the year 1798, perhaps unique in its interest to mankind among all which members of the medical profession at whatsoever age of the world have written, the original autograph manuscript of Jenner's momentous first essay on Cow-pox.

In concluding this report (submitted on the day when my term of office expires) it is perhaps not superfluous for me to record my experience that during the last year, as during others which have preceded it, much which the Council would have wished to do, either singly or in conjunction with other bodies, to improve the tests of qualification for persons desirous of entering on the practice of Surgery, has been made impossible by circumstances which the College of Surgeons cannot control. The extremely unsatisfactory state of the laws which regulate the granting of titles of qualification for the Medical Profession has for many past years not only been matter of public scandal and grievance, but, as such, has led to repeated endeavours to amend that general state of law; and while hitherto none of these endeavours (even though three times in the form of a Government Bill) have proved successful, the certainty that large legislative change must sooner or later come, and the uncertainty how far when it comes it may affect the various existing arrangements, are considerations which have powerfully tended to withhold individual institutions from attempting partial improvements of system for themselves. In our College the hindrance thus occasioned has been and is very great. At the beginning of the period to which this report relates, Her Majesty's Government were finding it impossible to make further progress in the then session of Parliament with a Medical Acts Amendment Bill which His Grace the Lord President of H.M. Council had some months before carried through the House of Lords; and the Bill which under those circumstances was dropped at the end of the session of 1878 has (with certain then intended amendments) been again carried through the House of Lords by the Lord President, and been referred in the House of Commons to a Select Committee which at my present date is hearing evidence on its contested points. That the wisdom of Parliament, assisted by the Report of that Committee, may speedily terminate our long period of suspense and obstruction, is of greater importance for the rightly-understood interests of the Public than for any objects which may seem separately professional: and, with regard to both, I believe that the Council will respond to the hope which in closing this report I most earnestly express, that, within my next successor's term of office, the desired consummation may be attained. But if that is not to be, and if existing obstacles to proper general legislation for the Profession cannot with the present great effort be surmounted, our College, it would seem, must accept this alternative: that, definitively abandoning, at least for many years, all expectation of the larger sort, and deprecating further demands in that direction, we proceed to concentrate our endeavours on the perfecting of our own corporate structure and working, and beg of Her Majesty's Government to give their aid to such amendments of our Collegiate Charters and Bye-laws as may be found needful for this separate public purpose.

JOHN SIMON,
President.

Royal College of Surgeons of England,
July 10th, 1879.

APPENDIX N$^{O.}$ 1.

REPORT by the PRESIDENT and VICE-PRESIDENTS, on the MEMORIAL, recently referred to them, which asks for a MEETING OF FELLOWS.

THE Memorial which the Council on the 17th ultimo received from certain Fellows of the College, and referred to the President and Vice-Presidents for consideration and report, adverts to a printed Address which Mr. Quain some months ago circulated generally among the Fellows, advocating that the Fellows should once a year meet for the discussion of matters of professional interest, and should, between such meeting-times, be represented for certain professional purposes by a standing committee of their number; and the request of the Memorialists is, that the Council should now convene within the College a general Meeting of Fellows, for the purpose of considering Mr. Quain's suggestions, and of taking such action on them as may be deemed desirable.

The President and Vice-Presidents have read Mr. Quain's Address with the consideration which they think eminently due to it, both as regards its subject-matter, and as regards the professional rank and character of its author: they presume that all their fellow-councillors have done the same: and they daresay that among those readers, personally considered, many, perhaps all, may so far sympathize with the general sentiment of the Address as to wish they could see their way to take part in giving effect to it. The President and Vice-Presidents, however, are not prepared to say that, in their opinion, the Council (as such) could properly take the formal step which the Memorialists desire, to have Mr. Quain's suggestions discussed in a public Meeting of Fellows to be held within the College; and they think it the more necessary to submit to the Council the doubts which they entertain on this point, as they foresee that the requested action if taken, might seem to say that the Council would, if requested, be ready to take further official action in the matter of Mr. Quain's suggestions.

The President and Vice-Presidents do not find in the College records any precedent for such a Meeting of Fellows as is now proposed. No College Meetings (other than for Lectures and Orations and Elections) have, it is believed, ever been convened by the President or Council, except the three, not exclusively of Fellows, but generally of all Members of the Corporation, which were convened in the earlier half of the year 1870; and though the President and Vice-Presidents would think it foreign to their present business to discuss those Meetings in detail, yet, remembering that as individual members of Council in 1869 and 1870 they were warmly for the principle of the meetings, they now feel bound, in quoting the precedent, to record also their personal admission, that the experience of those Meetings made them aware of practical difficulties which they had perhaps hardly enough foreseen in the matter, and that, in their opinion, much consideration would be requisite before the President or Council could again incur the responsibility which the convening of such general Meetings involves. Though the College records do not give any precedent for such a Meeting of Fellows as is now proposed, the Council Minutes of the period to which reference has been made record a distinct vote of the Council on the question, whether it would be well for the College formally to convene Annual Meetings of Fellows. It appears, namely, that, on February 10, 1870, Mr. Quain moved in the Council "that it is expedient that the Council convene a Meeting of the Fellows annually on the day appointed for the election of Members of the Council, for the purpose of discussing such subjects as shall be notified in the paper summoning the Meeting;" and that on the following May 13th (the matter having in the meantime been referred to a Committee which was considering the whole subject of College Meetings) a negative to Mr. Quain's motion was moved; whereupon the Council, accepting this negative, voted "that it is not expedient that the Council should convene a Meeting of Fellows on the day of election of Members of Council."

The positive law with regard to College Meetings is understood by the President and Vice-Presidents to permit that either the President or the Council may, if seeing fit, convene the Members of the College for any business which concerns the Corporation in general, or convene exclusively the Fellows of the College for any business which is exclusively theirs; but the fact being, that the Members at large have in law no corporate responsibilities assigned to them, nor the Fellows any exclusive responsibility beyond that of their electoral function, the framers of the College Bye-laws seem not to have contemplated any holding of Meetings within the College except for Lectures and Orations, and, in the case of Fellows, for the Election of Members of Council; and apparently no Meeting can be held within the College except under the conditions which govern those cases. That is to say,—first, the Meeting must have been convened by the President or

Council; and, secondly, the President or Council convening it must have defined the particular business or matter in respect of which it is convened; and, thirdly, the President or one of the Vice-Presidents, or some other Member of the Council, must preside at the meeting, and act in control and direction of it; and, fourthly, unless the business of the meeting be by right exclusively for Fellows, the meeting must have been convened without distinction of class, and must be open indifferently to all Members of the Corporation.

The President and Vice-Presidents, on their above-stated understanding of the law, doubt whether the Council could in strict lawfulness convene a Meeting of Fellows to consider the suggestions of Mr. Quain's Address: for the summons to any such Meeting would, it seems, have to imply that the suggestions concern the Fellows in their functional relations to the College; whereas, as Mr. Quain himself very pointedly explains, his "proposal is wholly independent of the Charter and of the duties imposed by it on the Council and on the Fellows," and his "subject is not within the province of the Council."

Further, and quite apart from any narrowly legal view of the case, the President and Vice-Presidents are of opinion that, if the Fellows of the College should wish, as Mr. Quain suggests, to graft on their present legal status a certain social organization for purposes not within purview of the Charter and Bye-laws of the College, it would be inexpedient as regards the College, and probably at the same time inconvenient to the Fellows themselves, that the voluntary organization should in any formal way be identified with the official machinery of the College. The forms and sanctions, under which College Meetings have of necessity to be held, could not, without embarrassment to both parties, be extended to Meetings which would be of unofficial and ultra-legal intention. Meetings of the latter sort may rightly be of far larger scope than Meetings which are within rule of special charters, and needless endeavours to make them move in the same lines may breed discord instead of harmony. To Fellows who might wish to meet for the wider purposes, it would probably be a disappointment to find that, if they were assembled within the walls of the College, they could not, in the present state of the law, enjoy the same freedom of discussion and conduct as in Meetings held elsewhere at their own discretion. And to the College at large any ultra-legal Meeting of Fellows within its walls would bring with it this serious inconvenience, that, though the Meeting could not in fact give legal validity to its proceedings, yet, since under the Bye-laws it must be presided over by the Executive of the College, it could hardly seem so unofficial and unauthoritative as not to give to the College government at least an appearance of duality.

In a different point of view, if allusion may be permitted to a fact which is not formally within cognisance of the Council, the President and Vice-Presidents would appeal to the knowledge which every Member of the Council informally has, of the Annual Dinner which, ever since the institution of the Fellowship, the Fellows of the College have, by voluntary agreement and organization among themselves, arranged for the day in July when Elections to the Council take place:—for it seems to the President and Vice-Presidents that, if there be much demand among the Fellows for such an annual debate meeting as Mr. Quain suggests, probably the unofficial organization under which the festive meeting is held would be ready and able to subserve the two purposes at the one opportunity; so that, on the same day with the Dinner, and on an equally unofficial basis, there might be an afternoon Meeting of Fellows for such general and free debate as the College could not at present formally invite.

Mr. Quain's Address does not itself anywhere state whether the Annual Meetings which he proposes are meant by him to be held within the College, and consequently to be convened and presided over by the College Executive; but this question could not fail to be raised in any Preliminary Meeting of Fellows which should be held with intention of giving effect to his suggestions: and if the views of the Council, as to the answer which any such question ought at present to receive, are substantially those which the President and Vice-Presidents have here expressed, it would hardly be appropriate, and might probably cause misapprehension, if the convening of Fellows "for the purpose of considering Mr. Quain's suggestions" were an authoritative act of the Council.

Accordingly, as regards the Memorial to which the present Memorandum refers, the President and Vice-Presidents recommend to the Council to say to the Memorialists, that, not as implying any opinion on the merits of the matter in question, but from considerations which relate to the Charter and Bye-laws of the College, the Council does not feel itself at liberty to convene a Meeting of Fellows to discuss the suggestions to which the Memorial refers.

REPORT by the PRESIDENT and VICE-PRESIDENTS on the ERASMUS WILSON ENDOWMENT.

In accordance with the resolution of the Council of June 6 last, the President and Vice-Presidents have carefully considered with Mr. Wilson in what form it might be agreeable to him, and desirable for the College, to give effect to the principle, already accepted between them, that the scope of his endowment should be enlarged; and the President and Vice-Presidents now beg leave to submit to the Council a scheme, approved by Mr. Wilson, for certain such modifications of the Trust as would, they believe, enable the endowment to produce its best and most far-reaching effect.

Before stating the scheme, the President and Vice-Presidents would briefly explain certain restrictive considerations which, in framing it, they have had to bear in mind; for, as they need hardly submit to the Council, the problem of the best possible use for this endowment of £150 per annum is not an abstract question without regard to time and place and circumstances, but is essentially a question of adaptation to the College, with due regard to its special functions and to arrangements which are already in force for them.

Thus, first, as regards the question of SUBJECT-MATTER, the President and Vice-Presidents, considering what resources the College already possesses, and what provision it has already made, for the teaching of Anatomy and Physiology on the one hand, and of Practical Surgery on the other, have, on the whole, thought it best to assume that at present no further claim in either of those directions could be entertained; but that the special subject of Pathology, conceived as a distinct third division of College teaching, would undoubtedly be judged the most proper field to receive benefit from Mr. Wilson's endowment.

Proceeding then to consider in detail, what, within that province, would be the most advantageous application of the Fund, the President and Vice-Presidents first find, among the conditions of the case, that LECTURES, in any considerable number, must rather be deprecated than desired: for the College Establishment will not bear more than a limited total number of lectures; and that limit would certainly be exceeded, if more than a very few lectures on account of Pathology were added to the thirty which the College already has on account of Anatomy and Physiology and Surgery. This reason, even were there no other, would sufficiently forbid the founding of any Professorship in the College for the systematic teaching of Pathology in extenso; while equally strong reasons of another kind are suggested by the fact that courses of Systematic Pathology are presumably now given, of private enterprise, in all the medical schools of the United Kingdom. It appears then to the President and Vice-Presidents that, since lectures to be given under Mr. Wilson's endowment could not suitably be more than very few, the principle of the Trust in this respect should be: only to accept such (few) lectures as would be necessary to tell the results of original researches recently made by the lecturer himself in some department of Pathology; or, in other words, that the promotion, not of Lectures as such, but of Researches which would give original material for Lectures, should be taken as the aim of the expenditure.

The President and Vice-Presidents think it quite superfluous to insist that genuine RESEARCH in Pathology is of supreme interest to the Profession. They take for granted that the promoting of such research would universally be regarded as among the fittest and most fruitful functions which a great Corporation, with means at its disposal, could fulfil. They believe, too, that the Council of the College, having regard to the great and constantly increasing activity which several foreign countries are showing in that field of science, would wish to see members of the College distinguish themselves more largely than at present as contributors to the total of European work. It is of course well known to the Council that many of the younger members of English medical schools are already more or less inclining themselves to pathological research, and that some seem to be zealously interested in it; and it has appeared certain to the President and Vice-Presidents that encouragements and inducements, which the Council, by means of Mr. Wilson's endowment, could appropriately hold out to members of the College who should be successful workers in Pathology, would operate as a most valuable influence over the whole of that field of work.

Accordingly, with regard to the annual appropriation of income from Mr. Wilson's endowment, under such enlarged conditions of Trust as are proposed, the principles which the President and Vice-Presidents, with Mr. Wilson's approval, would recommend to the Council for acceptance are the following:—

(1) that the field of application be Pathology;
(2) that within this field the special aim be to encourage original Research;
(3) that Lectures be not an object of the scheme except as means for first promulgating from time to time results which the Researches may have gained;
(4) that Payments out of the Fund be assigned quite subordinately to the Lectures as such, and be mainly applied to remunerate the Research;
(5) that the Persons to be benefitted out of the moneys of the Trust be Members (including Fellows) of the College, not being at the time members of the Council.

If Mr. Wilson, in consent with the Council of the College and with the Trustees of his endowment, proceeds to give effect to the principles which have been stated, the fundamental change to be made in the Trust-Deed would apparently be as follows:—that, whereas the original intention of the endowment was "to promote the study of Pathology, together with the Anatomy and Physiology, human and comparative, of the Skin and its Appendages," the new Trust would withdraw the special reference to Anatomy and Physiology; would provide that the Trustees may promote "not only the Pathology of the Skin and its Appendages, but in general any studies which are for the advancement of Pathology in any of its relations or parts"; and would direct the Trustees "especially to promote the making of original researches in Pathology by members of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, and the publication of the results of such researches by Lectures to be delivered in the College."

The mode of giving effect to the suggested Trust not only would not need to be of like detail in all circumstances, but would certainly from time to time require its details to be varied. It would evidently be essential that, as regards the individual persons and researches to be benefitted under the Trust, the administrators should (within the fixed conditions) be at liberty to vary from year to year the bestowal of money, and should be responsible for judging from year to year to what particular aim or aims the money could most usefully be applied. There would be times when they could do nothing better for the purpose of the Trust than re-appoint, year after year, some specially diligent original investigator, who would give to the College on each new occasion a fresh harvest of pathological discovery: there would be other times when one man would in one year complete whatever present usefulness he could render under the Trust: there would be yet other times, when the best arrangement for the year would be that two men or three, each representing a minor research, should each give a single lecture on his work. The administrators ought to be free in all such respects as those: and moreover, since there might now and then be an absence of acceptable matter for their purpose, they ought also to be free, where seeing fit, to refrain partly or wholly from expenditure of their year's income, on condition of adding the unexpended moneys to the capital account of the Trust.

The general plan of action then for the intended purpose must apparently be: that the Council would at some fixed time in each year publicly invite new candidatures for engagement under the Trust; giving notice of the intentions and limitations of the endowment; and requiring each candidate to furnish, to such extent as should be needful, information with regard to the pathological research he has made, and on which he desires to lecture, and with regard to the results which he has ready for promulgation. And among the general conditions to be notified, the following would, in the opinion of the President and Vice-Presidents, be desirable:—(1) that the year's lectures do not exceed three in number, but, subject to that limit, may, if the Council should see fit, be on more than one research, and by more than one person;—(2) that the fact of having once or more lectured under the Trust does not disqualify to be again appointed;—(3) that the Council, if not receiving applications which it deems acceptable, may refrain from making any appointment;—(4) that the remuneration for persons appointed by the Council will be (a) to receive, in respect of the lecture or lectures delivered, an honorarium of five guineas per lecture, and (b) to receive, in respect of the research lectured on, such sum as the Council, having regard to the value of the research and to the expenses incurred for it, shall, after delivery of the lecture or lectures, see fit to award.

The President and Vice-Presidents recommend that, if the scheme which they submit is carried into effect, the Council should, in all matters relating to it, advise with a special Standing Committee to be appointed for the purpose; and they suggest that, if this course be taken, Mr. Wilson, while he may be willing and able so to act, should be a permanent (supernumerary) member of the Committee. Also, feeling sure that the Council would wish to distinguish the new Trust by the name of its very liberal Founder, they suggest that each person holding appointment to lecture under the Trust should for the time be entitled "Erasmus Wilson Professor of Pathology."

Secretary.

THE MUSEUM.

The Hunterian Collection, which forms the basis, and still a large proportion, of the contents of the present Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, was originally arranged in a building which its Founder, John Hunter, erected for it in 1784, behind his house in Leicester Square.

John Hunter died October 16th, 1793, aged 65. By his will he directed the Museum to be offered in the first instance to the British Government, on such terms as might be considered reasonable, and in case of refusal, to be sold in one lot, either to some foreign state, or as his executors might think proper.

In the year 1799 Parliament voted the sum of £15,000 for the Museum, and an offer of it being made to the Corporation of Surgeons, it was accepted on the terms proposed by Government*.

In 1806 the sum of £15,000 was voted by Parliament in aid of the erection of an edifice for the display and arrangement of the Hunterian Collection; a second grant of £12,500 was subsequently voted, and upwards of £21,000 having been supplied from the funds of the College, the building was completed in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, in which the Museum was opened for the inspection of visitors in the year 1813.

* The following are the Terms and Conditions on which the Hunterian Collection, purchased by Parliament, was delivered to the late Corporation of Surgeons; which Corporation having become dissolved, the Members thereof were re-incorporated by Charter, dated the 22nd day of March, 1800, under the Title of The Royal College of Surgeons in London:—

1st. The Collection shall be open Four Hours in the Forenoon of two days every week for Inspection and Consultation of the Fellows of the College of Physicians, the Members of the Company of Surgeons and Persons properly introduced by them; a Catalogue of the Preparations, and a proper Person to explain it, being at those times always in the Room.

2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twenty-four in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by the Preparations, shall be given every year by some Member of the Company.

3rd. That the Preparations shall be kept in a state of Preservation, and the Collection in as perfect a state as possible, at the Expense of the Corporation of Surgeons, subject to the annual Inspection and Superintendence of the Trustees.

4th. That there shall be a Board of Trustees, to consist of sixteen (increased to seventeen by the Lords of the Treasury in 1856) Members, by virtue of their Public Offices, and of fourteen others, to be appointed, in the first instance, by the Lords of the Treasury, and afterwards to be elected, as Vacancies may happen, by a Majority of the remaining Trustees.

5th. That the Museum shall always be open for the Inspection of all or any of the said Trustees, who are to take care that the Corporation of Surgeons perform their Engagements respecting the said Collection. That a day be appointed for the annual Inspection of the Museum, by the Trustees acting collectively as a Board; and that they are also to have quarterly Meetings, for the transacting of any Business relative to the Museum, and for the filling up of such Vacancies as may happen in the number of the Trustees; and that the Corporation of Surgeons shall engage some Person to officiate as Secretary to the Board upon such occasions, and to issue previous Notice to the Members, in which he is to state particularly whether any Vacancies are to be filled up by new Elections.

In consequence of the large number of additions, this building became too small for the adequate display and arrangement of its contents; and more space being at the same time required for the rapidly increasing Library, the greater portion of the present building was erected, wholly at the expense of the College, in 1835, at a cost of about £40,000, and the Hunterian and Collegiate Collections were re-arranged in what are now termed the Western and Middle Museums, which were opened for the inspection of visitors in 1836.

Further enlargement of the building having become necessary by the continued increase of the Collection, the College, in 1847, purchased the extensive premises of Mr. Alderman Copeland, in Portugal Street, for the sum of £16,000, and in 1852 proceeded to the erection of the Eastern Museum, at the expense of £25,000, Parliament granting £15,000 in aid thereof. The re-arrangement of the specimens was completed, and the additional portion of the building opened to visitors in 1855.

The Hunterian Collection was estimated to consist of 13,682 specimens, distributed under the following heads:—

Physiological Department, or Normal Structures.

Physiological preparations in spirit	3745
Osteological preparations	965
Dry do.	617
Zoological do.	1968
Fossils:—
Vertebrate	1215
Invertebrate	2202
Plants	292

Pathological Department, or Abnormal Structures.

Preparations in spirit	1084
Dry preparations (including bones)	625
Calculi and concretions	536
Monsters and Malformations	218
Microscopic preparations	215

Of the additions by which the size and value of the Collection have been so materially increased since it came into the possession of the College, very many have been presented by Fellows and Members of the College, and other persons interested in scientific pursuits. Among the largest contributions from this source have been the Collection, consisting of 847 specimens, presented in 1811 by Sir William Blizard, and a valuable series of Pathological specimens presented in 1851 by Sir Stephen L. Hammick. At the same time the Council of the College have availed themselves of various opportunities as they have occurred to purchase specimens of interest, especially at the dispersion of private anatomical and pathological museums, as that of Sir A. Lever in 1806, of Mr. Joshua Brookes in 1828, of Mr. Heaviside in 1829, Mr. Langstaff in 1835, Mr. South in the same year, Mr. Howship and Mr. Taunton in 1841, Mr. Liston in 1842, Mr. Walker in 1843, and, deserving of especial mention on account of the great number and value of the specimens acquired, that of Sir Astley Cooper in 1843.

The Histological Collection, of which the 215 Hunterian specimens (prepared by Hewson) constitute the nucleus, was chiefly formed by the late Professor Quekett, with considerable additions by purchase from Dr. Tweedy, J. Todd, Mr. Nasmyth, and Professor Lenhossek. It now contains upwards of 12,000 specimens, all arranged and catalogued so as to be readily available for reference.

The superintendence of the Museum is confided by the Council of the College to a Committee of its Members, which Committee has held five meetings during the past year.

A summary of the progress made in the preservation, arrangement and augmentation of the Collection will be found in the following Report.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CONSERVATOR TO THE MUSEUM COMMITTEE.

(Presented July 1st, 1879.)

Museum Staff.

Mr. Walter Pye, who was appointed to the post of Anatomical Assistant in the Museum in March 1878, was obliged, in consequence of his having been elected Assistant Surgeon to St. Mary's Hospital, to resign his connexion with the College after only six months' tenure of office.

His successor is Dr. John G. Garson, a graduate of the Edinburgh University, who has lately had the advantage of studying under Professor Braune of Leipzig and other German teachers, and who is making use of the opportunities afforded by the Museum for the scientific prosecution of Anatomy. Much of his time is necessarily occupied in superintending the dissections required by the Board of Examiners. He has also had charge of, and has effected improvements in, the arrangement of the Histological Collection, and done other work which will be referred to presently.

Pathological Collection.

The additions to this series are both numerous and valuable; but more important still is the revision which the old preparations are undergoing. The Catalogue prepared by Sir James Paget, under the supervision of the late Mr. Stanley, in five quarto volumes, published between the years 1846 and 1849, is one of the best-known and most valuable of all the publications of the College, and has always been looked upon as a model upon which other pathological catalogues should be formed. The additions up to the year 1863 were described in a supplementary volume. Since that time the collection has been very greatly augmented, and, as previously reported, a second supplement was drawn up by Dr. Goodhart. But, after mature deliberation, it was thought that the interests of those who study this important section of the Museum would be best consulted, not by the publication of further Supplements, but by an entirely new edition of the whole Catalogue, in which all the additional specimens would be incorporated in their appropriate places in the old series, and an opportunity afforded of making such changes in the general arrangement as the advance of pathological knowledge and greater experience of the requirements of the Museum appeared to necessitate. This was so great an undertaking (the Collection containing at present upwards of 5000 specimens), that even its commencement might have been delayed for an indefinite time but for the fortunate circumstance that the author of the original Catalogue is now Chairman of the Museum Committee, and consented to undertake, with the cooperation of Dr. Goodhart and Mr. Doran, the preparation of the new edition of his former work. This arrangement was sanctioned by the Council on July 11th, 1878; and during the whole of the last year Sir James Paget and the two gentlemen last named have been engaged in revising the descriptions in the former Catalogue and the Supplements, with the view to the publication of a complete Catalogue, brought down to the present time. The work being, however, as before mentioned, of considerable magnitude, will probably occupy some years before it is completed.

Collection of Calculi.

Since the publication of the Supplement to the Catalogue in 1871, many additions have been made to this series; but the greater part of these have not yet been displayed in the Museum or entered in the permanent Catalogue, as they had not been subjected to the chemical analysis which, upon the principle adopted in our classification, alone could determine their position in the series. During the past year, however, Mr. Thomas Taylor, the author of the Catalogue and Supplement, has most kindly undertaken to analyze and describe the whole of these specimens. The work has been completed within the last few days; the Calculi, amounting to 247 in number, have all been returned, accompanied by a MS. description; and they will very shortly be arranged in their places among the series in the Lower Gallery of the Western Museum. As the additions are so numerous and the space for their display is becoming somewhat limited, it is expected that a considerable rearrangement of the present specimens will be required in order to give proper accommodation to all. During the analysis of these specimens, Mr. Taylor discovered among the series of Calculi taken from natives of India, presented by Mr. F. S. Stedman, two examples of the very rare Xanthine, or Xanthic oxide.

Human Anatomy.

The method of exhibiting the relations of the structures of the human body, by means of sections cut in various directions while the body is rendered hard by the process of freezing, has frequently been practised on the Continent, but has never been carried out, at all events on any large scale, in this country. Dr. Garson, who had become familiar with the method in Germany, has during the last winter practised it here with success. Some of the preparations thus obtained are exhibited to the Committee to-day; but owing to the difficulties and delays we have hitherto experienced in obtaining flat glass receptacles, spirit-tight, and of sufficient size to contain many of the sections, but few of them are yet in a sufficiently completed condition to place in the Museum. These preparations will doubtless add greatly to the facilities already afforded by the Museum for the study of the anatomical relations of the component parts of the human body.

The series of specimens dissected to show the attachment of muscles and the distribution of the nerves has received seven additions during the year. These preparations, which now occupy a prominent position near the entrance of the Museum, having lately had their shelf-room greatly extended by the additions of cross-pieces at the end of each case, are rather intended for reference by those who wish to refresh their memory, or by those whom circumstances preclude from visiting the dissecting-room, than for students who are learning for the first time the anatomy of the human body. Although such a series is essential to our Museum, where it ought to be possible to demonstrate in the clearest way, and without any loss of time in the process of preparation, every fact in human anatomy, it would, in my opinion, be positively injurious to use them in the early periods of study, or to introduce similar preparations into Medical Schools, as they must have a tendency to check the more laborious, but far more sure, method of obtaining exact anatomical knowledge, viz. by personal dissection.

Before leaving this subject, I may call the attention of the Committee to some bones (the commencement of a series not yet completed), upon which Mr. S. G. Shattock, Curator of the Museum of University College, has been good enough to mark, in the neatest and clearest manner, the limits of the surfaces for the origin and insertion of muscles. These form a very useful auxiliary to the series of human myology, dissected by Mr. W. Pearson.

Osteological Series.

Two remarkably fine skeletons of reptiles, which bear witness to the skill of the new articulator, Mr. J. Marle, have been added to the Museum during the past year—a Green Turtle (Chelone viridis) from the island of Ascension, prepared from an animal of unusually large size, which was presented by the Managers of the Westminster Aquarium; and a very large Nilotic Crocodile. This was killed, in the spring of 1877, by the Hon. Charles P. F. Berkeley, at Silsilis, in Upper Egypt, where the species is now extremely rare; and its skeleton was prepared expressly for this Museum, according to directions with which Mr. Berkeley had been supplied by me. It can easily be imagined that the performance of such an operation on board a Nile boat in warm weather must have required some sacrifices on the part of those on board; and our thanks are due to Mrs. Berkeley for her share in securing for us what is now one of the greatest ornaments of the Museum. It measured nearly 16 feet in length, and must have been of considerable age, as it had long been an object of dread to the inhabitants of the district in which it lived. The nature of its last meal may be inferred from the circumstance that its stomach was found to contain the hoofs and part of the halter of a donkey and a boy's ear-rings. Unfortunately it was somewhat damaged by the numerous shots required to dispatch a creature of such tenacity of life, and it had lost the greater part of its right fore foot long before death. Otherwise it is quite perfect, even to the slender abdominal ribs. The very perfect, but somewhat smaller skeleton of the same species, presented a few years back by Mr. Berkeley, has now been transferred, with the consent of the donor, to the Museum of the University of Cambridge.

As the Hunterian Lectures on Anatomy have, for the last three years, been devoted to illustrating the series of human crania and skeletons in the Museum, attention has naturally been directed to this department, and its riches and deficiencies have been brought prominently into notice, and many of the latter have been supplied either by donation or by purchase.

Among the donations, by far the most important has been a series of skulls of natives of our recently acquired possessions, the Fiji Islands, who were previously almost entirely unrepresented in the Museum, although belonging to a very interesting and peculiar type of mankind, and one which the progress of events in the Pacific appears destined ere long entirely to destroy, or at all events greatly to modify, by intermixture with other races.

These crania were collected by Baron A. von Hügel, during a residence of several years in the interior of the islands, the scientific results of which will be embodied in a work which he is now preparing for the press; and they are undoubtedly authentic. With them are others from several of the other Melanesian islands, of most of which we had previously no specimens, making altogether thirty-seven in number. Though Baron von Hügel was very desirous that the collection should find a resting-place in this Museum, where every guarantee could be given of its permanent preservation and accessibility to scientific workers of all nations, he did not feel in a position to present them; but when I mentioned this circumstance to Mr. Erasmus Wilson, that gentleman immediately, as he has done in similar cases on previous occasions, solved any difficulty there might exist about the College coming into possession of them, by sending a cheque for the amount required.

The very elaborate and detailed Catalogue of the Osteological specimens by Professor Owen, published in 1853, has, owing to the numerous additions made to the Collection since that time, ceased to fulfil the present requirements of the Museum, and the necessity of a new one has become obvious to any one engaged in studying the collection. It is always difficult, in the case of a growing collection, to fix upon the best time to print a Catalogue, as it is necessary to choose between the danger, on the one hand, of incurring much labour and expense for a publication which may before long require to be superseded, and, on the other, of allowing the interests of the collection and of the workers in it to suffer by the condition of confusion into which it necessarily falls when a vast quantity of new material has been incorporated into a framework not sufficiently comprehensive or elastic to adapt itself to its reception.

The time appears to have come when something must be done; and the best principle appeared to me, not to attempt, with the present greatly enlarged collection, to give minute descriptions of every individual specimen (descriptions which must of necessity be frequently coloured by the theoretical views of the individual describer), but rather to aim at making a complete list of the contents of this department of the Museum, arranged upon a system which should combine modern scientific views of classification with convenience of reference and capability of extension, and to pay great attention to accuracy of nomenclature, and especially to the preservation of every record relating to the history and authenticity of each specimen, laying stress on all particulars which are not to be seen in the specimen itself, rather than on those which can at any time readily be found there. To do this a very great amount of time has been consumed in searching through old documents, letters, and publications, though often with little visible result.

That the value of the former full descriptions may be retained, references will be given in the new Catalogue to its predecessor, in all instances of specimens mentioned therein.

The first portion of the Catalogue will relate to the section of the Collection devoted to Human Osteology, including the series of skeletons and crania of the various races of Man. The publication of this portion was sanctioned by the Council in January, and more than three fourths of it have already passed through the press.

THE LIBRARY.

The formation of a regular Library may be said to have commenced in the year 1801, at which time and in succeeding years presentations and bequests of books, often in considerable numbers, were made to the College—the principal donors being Dr. Baillie, Sir Everard Home, Sir Charles Blicke, the widow of Mr. Sharp, Sir Ludford Harvey, Dr. Fleming, Mr. Cotton, and Mr. Long. The Court of Assistants also directed from time to time the expenditure of small sums of money for the purchase of books, and eventually voted a sum of £100 per annum for this purpose. Sir Charles Blicke, in the year 1816, invested the sum of £300, the proceeds of which sum were to be devoted to the same object. Some of the purchases thus made were considerable, as in the cases of the Libraries of Mr. Pitt, Mr. St. Andre, and Sir Anthony Carlisle, and books of importance were added at the recommendation of the Conservator of the Museum and others. In this way a Library of considerable value was gradually accumulated, but it was only accessible to a limited number of persons. In 1827 active steps were taken to render it more generally useful, and with this object catalogues and extensive lists of desirable acquisitions were ordered to be prepared. Large sums of money were also expended during this and the ensuing two years, amounting in the aggregate to nearly £6000. A Librarian was appointed, and in 1828 the Library, then containing 10,500 volumes, was thrown open to members of the College, and all other persons engaged in the pursuit of natural science were freely admitted. This large collection, thus opened, offered great facilities to the studious. By means of extensive additions, the collection was well nigh complete in works on Medicine and Surgery, both domestic and foreign, whilst it was also very rich in publications relating to the accessory sciences. The transactions of Academies and Societies, and the collection of periodical publications in general, owing to their completeness, and the difficulty with which access can be obtained to this class of literature elsewhere than in large libraries, formed a valuable feature. The maintenance of the Library from that time to the present has involved a very considerable expenditure of the funds of the College. It has been the object of those to whose care it has been confided to ensure the completeness and excellence of the collection, and great facilities of reference have been provided by the preparation of additional catalogues and indexes of subjects. During the past year there have been added to the Library 535 volumes, including 154 new works and 435 tracts, pamphlets, essays, reports, and theses. The entire collection now consists of 37,146 volumes, comprising 14,696 works, and 38,704 tracts, pamphlets, essays, reports, and theses.

The following is a list of the Donations that have been presented to the Library during the year 1878–79, viz.:—

Erasmus Wilson Trust.

The following are the conditions relating to the Erasmus Wilson Trust:—

1. The special object of the Erasmus Wilson Trust is to promote the making of original Researches in Pathology by Members of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, and the publication of the results of such researches by Lectures to be delivered in the College.

2. The annual income of the Trust is about £150; which income, or so much of it as shall become due under the conditions and regulations of the Trust, will be paid, year by year, by the Council of the College, in recognition of research and publication as aforesaid.

3. The Erasmus Wilson Trust Committee of the College receives and examines for the Council the applications of persons who desire to lecture under the Trust; and annually, towards the close of the calendar year, the Council receives from this Committee a report on such applications, and decides what Lecture or Lectures it will accept under the Trust for the respective ensuing year.

4. Any Member of the College who shall have made any sufficiently important original investigation in Pathology, and who, not having yet published the results of such investigation, shall be ready to make his first publication of them by means of a Lecture or Lectures at the College, will, unless he be a Member of the Council of the College, be eligible as a Candidate under the Trust.

5. Every person who desires to offer himself as a Candidate under the Trust must do so by writen application, describing the research which he has made, on the results of which he offers to lecture under the Trust, and the new knowledge which he believes himself able to establish in extension or correction of previous teaching in the same matter; and he must be prepared to support his application by personally furnishing to the Trust Committee such explanations or demonstrations as may be required.

6. Appointment by the Council to lecture under the Trust may in any year be of one person alone, or of two or three persons, according as the Council, in view of the different candidatures for the year, may see fit; but the Lectures to be given in any one year, whether by one person or by more, will not exceed three in number.

7. No appointment by the Council can extend beyond the Lectures of a single year: but the fact of having lectured under the Trust will not disqualify for further appointment; and the Council reserves discretion to itself to repeat for any number of successive years (if in view of the successive new candidatures it shall see fit) the appointment of the same person or persons.

8. If, at any period for appointment, the Council finds no applications which it deems acceptable, it will, for that turn, refrain from making any appointment under the Trust.

9. Each person appointed to lecture under the Trust will receive, in respect of the Lecture or Lectures which he delivers, an honorarium of five guineas per Lecture, as customarily paid for other College Lectures; and he will further receive, in respect of the Research lectured on, such payment as the Council, having regard to the value of the Research, and to the expense incurred for it, shall, after delivery of the Lecture or Lectures, see fit to reward.

10. Applications with a view to Lectures to be given in the coming year 1880 will be received by the Secretary of the College at any time in the month of October 1879; but none can be received after the end of that month. In the meantime the Secretary will give to intending Candidates any further explanations which they may need.
